Dedication

The Royals' 1961-62 season must be dedicated to the man who saved professional basketball in Cincinnati during a most critical period after its initiation: Thomas E. Wood. Death abruptly ended Mr. Wood's life of insurance, real estate and sports in April 1961.

Between 1958 and the moment of his death, Mr. Wood was truly Mr. Loyal Royal. As a memorial to him, the 1961-62 Royals will wear a black patch over their uniform's left shoulder band. A flagpole memorial in front of Cincinnati Gardens was unveiled in October (1961) in tribute to him.

Cincinnatians will remember Mr. Wood not only as a highly-successful businessman; they will remember his active participation and love for sports. Thus, this dedication . . .

'61-'62 Royals Could Be Titled 'Success Unlimited'

Question marks are quite appropriate punctuation when a pre-season outlook of the Cincinnati Royals is discussed. Coach Charley Wolf's second Royals edition have a number of problem areas the status of which may not be known until after the season is fully underway.

The 1961-62 season could be entitled Success Unlimited for Wolf's Royals. Last winter, they were the "comeback kids" of the National Basketball Association, missing a .500 finish by only seven victories.

Although the Royals settled for fourth place in the Western Division, they were but three games from second place and one game out of third. The battle for third place was not decided until the final day of the season.

Chief among the questions to be answered is depth and whether or not five rookies can ably support six returning veterans. Gone from the 1961-62 scene are two guards and two forwards from last season's club.

From this rookie and veteran contingent, Wolf has these hopes:

★ That 6'10" Bob (Bevo) Nordmann will adequately play the No. 2 center's spot behind starter Wayne Embry, thus giving the 250-pounder necessary short rests during games.

★ That Hub Reed and Bob Boozer, both veterans, will together handle the scoring, rebounding and defensive work of the forward spot opposite sharpshooting Jack Twyman. If necessary, Reed may be needed to help out at center.

★ That rookies Bob Wiesenahn (6'4") and Joe Buehler (6'7") will suitably back up the cornermen. Along the same lines, Wolf is counting on first-year guards Adrian Smith and Dave Zeller to support starters Oscar Robertson and Arlen Bockhorn.

Smith may find himself a starter the same way as last season's No. 3 guard who became a "first fiver" at times: Robertson, the NBA's Rookie of the Year, missed eight games due to injuries and his absence definitely hurt the Royals.

Wolf feels that defense and rebounding are two team items that restrained the 1960-61 Royals. Offensively, the Royals set NBA records for most 100-point games and consecutive 100-point contests.

The Royals' brass optimistically calls 1961-62 Success Unlimited... That is, if the rookies produce, Oscar remains healthy, the Boozer-Reed combo ably fills the one forward slot and the club improves its overall defense and rebounding. Only time will tell...

Charley Wolf Began NBA Coaching Trend

When Charley Wolf joined the Royals in April 1960, he started a new trend in the NBA: That of former college coaches directing play-for-pay clubs instead of veteran players about to terminate their active careers.

After Charley's entry, the NBA saw these changes: Fred Schaus (West Virginia) to Los Angeles, Eddie Donovan (St. Bonaventure) to New York and Frank McGuire (North Carolina) to Philadelphia. Wolf did not take long last winter to exhibit his quiet courtside manner which contrasted so much with the "sideline showboats."

The Royals under Wolf led the NBA in field goal shooting (.438). With Philadelphia, they set an NBA record of scoring 100 points or more in 76 of 79 games. And, Wolf's squad performed that feat in 64 consecutive games, another record.

Charley directed Cincy to its best won-lost mark (33-46) since the 33-39 finish in 1958, the Royals' first Ohio season. Wolf's cagers just missed the play-offs, behind third place by one game and second spot by three games.

The 35-year-old Charley, a 6'2 1/2" chap who appears trim enough to be a Royals performer, came to the club after six successful seasons at Villa Madonna College, located across the Ohio River from Cincinnati at his Covington, Ky. birthplace. His Villa teams compiled an 81-56 record.

Lack of a home gym, dormitory facilities and a fully-subsidized athletic program failed to restrain Wolf. Before his Villa stint, Charley spent seven years in minor league baseball.

Charley was an All-Ohio football end at Cincinnati's St. Xavier High School. An ankle fracture kept him from Notre Dame's football team as a freshman but not from Irish varsity basketball and baseball.

Wolf was a Naval signalman aboard Atlantic Ocean tankers in World War II. He is a 1956 Xavier University graduate.

Charley is married to former Cincy TV personality "Sis Camp" (Lorraine Pohlkamp). They are parents of Martin Charles, born June 21, 1957 and Stephen Joseph, born March 23, 1960.

During the off-season, Charley has worked for the Royals as a speaker and playground clinic director.

Nickname: Bucky. One of four Royals to play all 79 NBA games last season, he ranked No. 3 in total minutes (2,669) as he enjoyed his best pro campaign.

Defense has been Bucky's forte in the NBA but 1960-61 saw him rise sharply on offense. Not only did he blossom into a more consistent scorer, he became the club's No. 2 feeder. Scored in twin-figures 52 times.

Astounded Cincy fans in season's home finale with 11 consecutive baskets in first and second periods en route to career high of 36 points. He played 45 minutes against Detroit, shot 17-26 FG and grabbed 9 rebounds.

In Dec. 14th home show against New York, he pocketed 35 points, 14-20 FG, 7-9 FT and 7 rebounds in 42 minutes. He sparked seven-point win as Robertson fouled out with 10 minutes left.

Rugged, all-out play has won him "Old Reliable" tag among fans. He's a Cincy fans' favorite. Was Royals' surprise No. 3 draft pick in '58 and no one has regretted it since.

"Arlen Darlin'" had inspiring college career at Dayton interrupted after frosh year by two-year Army stint. . . Still likes to recall Jan. Wife Peggy and he are parents of David Arlen (born June '59) and Daniel Alan (born July '60). Off-season occupation: Royals' ticket salesman and playground clinic leader.

College—45 vs. Purdue at KSU, 12-1-58
Pro—23 vs. Boston there, 12-9-60

Nickname: Big Bob . . . Top "swing" man to spell starting forwards as a rookie last winter, Boozer could have inside track for a first-string spot in 1961-62. Everyone agrees he has physical makeup.

Robert Lewis Boozer was Royals' No. 1 draft choice in 1959 after earning All-American honors two years in a row at Kansas State Univ. Played one year with Peoria Cats of NIBL before joining Royals.

One of four Royals to play all 79 NBA games in 1960-61, Bob averaged 8.4 points and 6.2 rebounds although he showed a norm of only 19 minutes per contest.

In top game at Boston, he sank 8 of 17 field goal shots and 7 of 10 free throws besides getting 11 rebounds in 19 minutes. Bob hit 8 of 12 goal attempts in 22-point home splash versus St. Louis in February.

Big Bob shows excellent jump and hook shots. His jumper is fired from high above his head as he takes advantage of his height and leaping power to avoid blocking. He likes to hook with either hand on the run . . . Once scored 32 points against Wilt Chamberlain (Kansas) which gave Bob's Kansas State club the 1958 Big Eight crown, an indication of his potency.

Big Eight's Player of Year as a junior and senior at KSU, he was a standout rebounder of United States team in 1959 Pan-American and 1960 Rome Olympic Games. Bob scored 1,685 points and counted 824 rebounds in 77 college varsity games.

At Peoria, he totaled 22.6 points and 12.6 rebounds averages . . . Friendly Bob is single. Off-season occupation: Omaha, Neb. Boys Club of America and brewery representative.

College—42 vs. Kent State, 2-16-57
Pro—37 vs. Phila. at Bos., 2-3-61

Nickname: Goose. Recognized as the Royals' most improved player throughout last season, Wayne truly established himself when Phil Jordan was sold to New York in mid-January. Before the two split, however, Embry was tapped to play in the East-West All-Star game at Syracuse.

Goose led the Royals' rebounding for the second straight season, posting a 10.9-game norm. He ranked No. 3 in scoring, field goals, free throws and field goal shooting. In fact his .451 FG mark ranked among the NBA's Top Ten.

Marked for his burly, rugged board play, Wayne set a new club record with 286 personal fouls. He's one of the strongest pivotmen in the loop; some foes insist he is the strongest. Stamina reflected in 2,233 action minutes in all 79 games last winter.

He shot 18.34 FG and took 13 rebounds in career's top game at Boston during 43 minutes. Grabbed 25 rebounds in season finale at LA March 12th. Wayne counted 20 points or more in 11 of last 20 games, marking 91 in final four on road.

Promising pre-high school baseball player, Goose switched to basketball because of his size . . . New York Giants pro football club tried to sign him in '59 despite limited experience in high school . . . Big Wayne is a "favorite" around youngsters and popular after-dinner speaker.

Former two-time All Mid-American Conference pick at Miami, he was St. Louis' No. 3 draft choice in '58 but became Royal in time for debut. Wife Theresa and he are parents of Deborah Lynn (born Jan. 21, 1960) and Jill Marie (born Aug. 29, 1961). Off-season work: Royals' ticket salesman and sells insurance and real estate.

Date of Birth	Dec. 11, 1939
Birthplace	St. Louis, Mo.
Hometown	Clayton, Mo.
Height	6'10"
Weight	262
College	St. Louis
High School	St. Louis Univ.
Years Pro	First

MOST POINTS (SINGLE GAME) IN:
High School—33 vs. Cape Girardeau, '57
College—28 vs. Wichita, '59-'60

Nicknames: Bevo, Big Bob . . . Surprise Royals No. 3 draft choice who could make immediate mark with club as solid relief man at center. One of St. Louis University's finest all-around cagers who was '60-'61 pre-season All-American choice . . . Senior season stopped suddenly in December Christmas tourney game against Kentucky at Lexington when he suffered torn knee ligaments.

Knee now almost as good as "new" through surgery and diligent weight exercises. Royals feel he can be real asset to club through short game stints in giving Embry "breathers" which at same time will help his own physical development.

The youngest Royal is quite versatile for such a big person: Shoots excellent outside jumper and hooks well underneath. Showed in pre-season Royals training willingness to scrap with experienced NBA pros in art of rebounding. Early displayed his great desire and zeal to improve as a rugged Royal.

First-team All-Missouri Valley Conference pick as a junior with one-time opponent Oscar Robertson, now Royals' mate. Second teamer same year was fellow Cincy rookie Bob Wiesenhahn. Big Bob was on the Illinois '57 All-State tournament team as a high school senior.

His 56% FG mark as Billiken junior is school record. Bevo made 13 baskets in 18 shots against Wichita as junior and collected 27 rebounds against Kansas . . . With the books, he majored in mathematics and minored in physical education and philosophy.

Bills Coach John Benington says of Big Bob: "When Bob reaches his full maturity, he will be well qualified to play in the pros. In fact, he may be one of the most underrated players drafted."

Son of a St. Louis suburban weekly newspaper publisher, Bob comes from a BIG family: Father is 6'4 1/2" Bernard. Brother Bill at 6'8" is a junior star at St. Louis U. Older brother Bernard Jr. stands 6'5 1/2" and high school sophomore Dave tips the stick at 6'5".

Bachelor Bob spent the '61 summer completing his college degree requirements and playing basketball. The preceding summer he worked in a canning factory . . . He and fellow rookie-bachelor Adrian Smith share an apartment near the Royals' home court during the season.

Nickname: Hubber . . . Royals look for Hub's return to '59-60 form when he counted 614 rebounds despite ranking sixth in minutes played. Last season, he started as a first-string forward, suffered a fractured cheekbone in late November home game against New York and played last half of campaign as No. 2 pivotman.

May be used as "swing man" at both forward and center this season. Boosts tremendous desire which shows in second efforts. Devoted much of 1961 off-season to increasing weight and stamina through weight-lifting exercises.

His top career game in January saw Hubber hit 12 of 17 field goal shots and pluck 13 rebounds in 30 minutes. Rebound highs were three efforts of 15 each.

Came to Royals Nov. 4, 1959 from St. Louis where he was Hawks' No. 2 draft pick in '58. His 45% field shooting mark led Royals regulars in '59-'60. Scored 23 vs. Hawks in 11th game as a Royal.

Nicknames: Big O, Ozz . . . Everybody's 1961 Rookie of the Year and probably the NBA's all-time best first-year star. Pro players gave Oscar top amount of votes (72) in '61 Sporting News' All-NBA Club: Baylor and Pettit followed (70 each) . . . Has been called "most complete player" to ever reach the pros. Needed but 34 minutes of action in '61 All-Star classic at Syracuse to win MVP trophy as he scored 23 points, posted 14 assists and grabbed 9 rebounds. First Royal to ever be game's MVP.

His 9.7-game assist average is new NBA record and eight game absences due to ankle and thigh injuries kept him 26 assists away from breaking Cousy's one-season total of 715 . . . "Wizard of Ozz" in 1960-61 ranked third in NBA scoring, fourth in field shooting and ninth in free throw accuracy.

"Robby" became NBA's second-best all-time point producer (Wilt hit 2707 points for 37.6 norm in '59-'60) as a rookie. He led all NBA guards in scoring and rebound totals and in assists per game. Check Royals club records and Ozz now owns seven . . . Holds bushel basket full of marks at University of Cincinnati where he was a unanimous All-American, led nation's major scorers and named "Player of Year" coast-to-coast all three varsity years. Led U. S. teams to crowns in '60 Olympic Games at Rome and '59 Pan-American Games at Chicago.

In one of Oscar's "45" games last season against Syracuse he showed 15-for-27 FG, 15-for-18 FT, 12 rebounds and 13 assists. Hit 40-points-plus nine times and 30-points-plus 44 times.

Age	25

Height	6'1"
Weight	180
College	Univ. of Kentucky

MOST POINTS (SINGLE GAME) IN:
High School—48 twice ('53 and '54)
College—24 vs Georgia Tech, '57
 48 vs. Scooba, Miss. JC. '56

Nicknames: Odie, Smitty . . . Royals' pro property since '58, Smith has seen two years' Army service and one season in the amateur NIBL with Akron Goodyears before inking his first pro pact.

Odie was placed on Royals' negotiation lists soon after starring for Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp's "Fiddling Five" which copped the 1958 NCAA University crown at Louisville over the Elgin Baylor-led Seattle combo.

With Akron Goodyears, Smitty ranked sixth in NIBL scoring with 644 points in 31 games (20.8), fifth in free throw percentage (81.9%) and 11th in field goals (46.1%). He was on the NIBL All-Star team and was among the Top Three for Rookie of the Year honors, missing it by 12 votes.

During two years' Army tour, Smith was a 24.6-point average marksman for the Ft. Lee, Va. team; sparked the U. S. team to the '59 Pan-American Games title at Chicago; and helped guide the Yanks' triumph in the '60 Olympic Games at Rome.

Coming to the Royals isn't completely new to Odie: He played on both U. S. teams with present teammates Robertson and Boozer.

Smith played at Kentucky for only two years. Before that, he was a Little All-American at Northeast Mississippi Junior College where he averaged 24 points per game in 64 outings over two years. Rupp used Odie as a fine playmaker and outside scorer at Kentucky.

Royals are counting on Smith for both spot substitute duty and possible "first five" action. Showed in pre-season drills the capacity to go into a game and immediately settle the team's offense, spark overall play and score quickly.

Bachelor Smith majored in commerce (personnel management) and minored in economics at Kentucky. He worked in public relations and store management programs at Akron and Goodyear outlets over the past year.

Basketball is Odie's "meat and potatoes" as he loves to play and talk the sport 24 hours a day . . . His conversation is quaint, folksy and humorous . . . He's an avid radio-television follower.

MOST POINTS (SINGLE GAME) IN:
 High School—16 (twice)
 College—49 vs. Western Ky., 1-29-55
 Pro—59 vs. Minneapolis here, 1-15-60

Nicknames: Twy, Twacky . . . After six years as a Royal, Jack has perfect attendance string of 442 league games. And, he's never missed a playoff game, either! Only 59 points from NBA's 10,000-point circle, Twy goes into 1961-62 with expectations of equaling and improving past two seasons when he averaged 31.2 and 25.3 points, respectively.

His .488 field goal showing last winter was second only to record-holder Wilt Chamberlain's .505 dunk-shot mark. One of the greatest outside shooters in NBA history, Jack's .452 in '57-'58 led the league. Once a teen-age golf star, his baseball-throw jump shots are now known for "second story" arch to avoid reaching defensive rushes of NBA gazelles. Adept-driver Jack likes to head toward either the baseline or across the keyhole for target.

His best game last winter was 41-pointer Jan. 30th against Boston at home: He made 13-for-23 from the field and 13 straight free throws before finishing with 15-for-17 . . . Went over 35 points nine times and over 30 points 26 times. Showed 12-for-12 in foul shots in March game at Los Angeles. His 59 against Lakers at Cincy in Jan. '60 is still a Royals club mark.

Jack played in four straight All-Star NBA games and just missed the 1961 classic although many felt '60-61 was his best overall season. Ranked fifth in NBA scoring . . . On Royals, he was No. 3 in rebounds and assists. His 2,338 points two years ago was second-greatest NBA effort.

Twyman is the oldest Royals' veteran in point of service and the only member of the original Rochester team still with the club . . . Work with ailing one-time Royals star Maurice Stokes as his guardian has led Jack to many national awards and much publicity.

In 1960, he was honored as one of 30 athletes in 10 sports with the "Great Stylists of Sport" affair in New York . . . He and wife Carole are parents of Lisa (born Sept. 1, 1957) and John Kennedy, Jr. (born May 15, 1960). Off-season occupation: Insurance and TV sportscaster.

Nickname: Crockett... Zeller never played with Wayne Embry but followed him at both Tecumseh High and Miami University. The Royals' No. 7 draft choice in April is second only to Oscar Robertson on Royals in passing "moxie," says Charley Wolf. Zeller will pass up good shots in order to toss uncanny scoring passes... Top Mid-American Conference '60-'61 scorer: His .839 free throw mark is new Miami record (ninth in nation) along with .762 three-year career showing... Height and frame only Zeller liability, most agree. In 32-point top output against Ohio U., he made 16 of 17 free throws... All-Ohio scholastic pick who was '57 Ohio-Kentucky All-Star game's MVP. Won some honor in April amateur Weirton, W. Va. Steel tourney, playing against Adrian Smith and with Bob Wiesenhahn. Five area schools tapped him to '61 all-opponent teams... Nickname: Jumpin' Joe... A jumping-jack who could become an NBA mainstay and fans' delight if he can adjust to legitimate big-time basketball. The Royals acquired Buckhalter in a summer '61 trade with St. Louis who lured him from three-year Harlem Globetrotter stint... Goal-tending rules only barrier to Joe blocking dozens of enemy shots. Will sometimes get up three and four times on a run of rebounds without appearing to touch the floor... Must master pro fundamentals before earning NBA spurs. Played against NBA stalwarts Tom Hawkins, Shellie McMillon and Willie Jones in high school. All-City and All-American scholastic star... ## Kennedy Three-Year Voice of the Royals

Radio voice of the Royals for the third straight season is Ed Kennedy, well-known Cincinnati sportscaster. The WCPO Royals' network play-by-play announcer recently completed his first season as the Cincinnati Reds' TV "mikeman."

Kennedy received wide area acclaim last season for his enthusiastic descriptions of home and road Royals games. His insistence to call "the shots as he sees them" on his nightly WLW Radio sports show and during game broadcasts has won him the firm backing of area sports promoters and fans.

A one-time high school coach in hometown Covington, Ky., Kennedy has been in radio work for over 16 years. His higher education includes undergraduate work at Xavier University and University of Cincinnati, master's degree from Chicago and a doctorate in education from Columbia.

The "Smiling Irishman," his wife Pat and six children reside on a small Cincinnati suburban farm. Ed's Royals game descriptions over WCPO will be carried over 13 stations in the tri-state area.
